

DMITRY ROMASHOV (Moscow, St. Petersburg)

Doctoral student, Department of Jewish Studies, Moscow State University

As a first-year student I got to know of Sefer through a student at my school. Subsequently, Sefer was largely responsible for my steady academic development and career choice.

In the summer of 2009, I participated in Eshnav at the Hebrew University. I have accumulated educational materials needed for my thesis and for drafting my first history course.

My future dreams are to advance along this chosen path and to finish and defend my doctoral thesis. I have some ideas and material for future conferences and hope to see my writings published. I do believe that in future I can rely on Sefer as well as Sefer can rely on me.